

SAILING WITH REMBRANDT ICEBERGS IN GREENLAND

Explore in Nansen's Steps

August 23-30 2016

Expedition voyage on the Rembrandt van Rijn, fully escorted by climate scientist Bruce Melton, P.E.

From $3,000 including air from Reykjavik.

Our ship is a 168 foot three-masted schooner outfitted for service in the Arctic. This beautiful old-time sailing ship has been completely rebuilt and refurbished with reinforced bows and fitted with the latest SOLAS technology. The ship has two diesel engines for maneuvering without sail and berths 33 passengers with a crew of 12. Excursions by Zodiac with expert guides are included along with opportunities to hike the shore and the ice sheet and actually set foot where Fridtjof Nansen began his epic trek across Greenland in 1888. Come explore with us and see climate change up close.
